State Society Honors Local SGES Member

SGES member Helen B. Tsatsanis was recognized by The Florida State Genealogical Society with a certificate in recognition of her contribution to the field of Genealogy and/or History for five or more years. The award was presented at the society's annual conference.

The nomination stated: "Helen Tsatsanis is one of the quiet people who just work around you without your knowing that she is there most of the time. Helen has been the lead librarian in charge of logging in books, quar-terlies, newsletters, etc., into our library for many years (probably over 20 if any one dare count). The amount of detail required is astounding. She also does a physical inventory of the books on an annual basis, plus gives a detailed report to the Board each year so that we know exactly where we stand. Due to failing health she took on an apprentice about three years ago, and has done a marvelous job of training. Of course, all of this is on a volunteer basis. She is a treasure waiting to be recognized."

We are proud of Helen and the many other workers "behind the scene" and are glad that she was recognized by the state society. This is a first for SGES!

Bush Signs Terrorism Bill Limiting Access to Birth

Records: Rules to be promulgated within a year

Overriding the concerns of genealogists, President Bush signed into law Dec. 17 Intelligence Bill S.2845 (HR10).

The bill will limit access to birth records by terrorists – and genealogists. Although the nation's largest genealogist organizations – the National Genealogical Society and the Federation of Genealogical Societies – urged members to write their congressmen and congresswomen to ask for an exemption for genealogy research (one that would allow states to continue providing non-certified copies of records more than 100 years old), Congress fast-tracked through the legislation.

The new law, the Intelligence Reform and Terrorism Act of 2004, did not have the wording suggested by the FGS/NGS Records Preservation and Access Committee.

One provision that did pass reads: "Issuance To Family Members - Not later than one year after the date of the enactment of this Act, the Secretary, in consultation with the Secretary of Health and Human Services and the States, shall establish minimum standards for issuance of a birth certificate to specific family members, their authorized representatives, and others who demonstrate that the certificate is needed for the protection of the requestor's personal or property rights," the committee reported.

The committee's goal was to get the suggested wording in the minimum standards, making it clear that the states are free to issue non-certified copies to the public. It is unclear whether this practice among states will continue.

Donations accepted, lovingly preserved and shared at our library

Many of us have spent much of our life researching our family roots, accumulating along the way valuable documents, books and other research materials. Although your family may value and keep the family tree after you're gone, they may not see the value in ALL of your research.

Before your life's work ends up in the trash, consider donating it to The Southern Genealogist's Exchange Society, or leave it to us in your will. If you already have a will, this item can be added as a codicil.

This will allows others to share in and benefit from your collection.

And if you have finished your work (has anyone really done that?) don't wait - donate those books now.

Library Donors

A big thank you to the people who recently donated books and other materials to our growing library: Robert B. Gentry, Kevin Hooper, Jon Ferguson, Tom and Lynn Lisenby, Vivian Bennett, John Bond, Wilma Costantino, Chris Weide, Ed Murfin, Bob Grenier, Karen McCracken, Julie Howell, Jerry Phillips, Janis Brown, Donl Kite, Blanche McKay, Val Lyman, Carla Mellott, James O. Whetstone, Joy Bold, Mary Rudd, George and Esther Thomas, G. Howard Bryan Museum of Southern History, Brooks County Genealogical Society, Chesterfield County Virginia Library (by exchange), Public Library of Charlotte and Mecklenberg County, N.C. (by exchange), Clayton Library Houston, Texas (by exchange), Golden West Marketing, Genealogical Publishing Co., and The Benjamin and Vladka Meed Registry of Jewish Holocaust Survivors Foundation.

Fairfield Ledger

(Fairfield, Jefferson Co., Iowa)

Apr. 7, 1886 - Page 3 col. 5

About a year ago, a 15th child was born to MR. and MRS. WILLIAM DESPAIN of this city, and was oddly, but probably properly, christened "ENOUGH." Monday evening twins, a boy and a girl, were born to the same parents, and of the 17 children all but one are living. MR. DESPAIN has been twice married, and was the father of five children by his first wife, or 22 in all.

Irish Eyes Will Smile at These Internet Sources

With St. Paddy's Day just around the corner, many of us will renew our search for those often hard-to-find Irish ancestors.

Many resources are tucked away in the genealogical and historical libraries of individual villages, towns, cities and states – not to mention Ireland itself. But for those of us who can't afford to travel afar on a regular basis, the Internet – and its goldmine of sources — makes genealogy mining that much easier.

To understand the “whys” your ancestor emigrated in the first place, a good primer is various accountings of Ireland in the 1800s. One source I've bookmarked is <http://vassun.vassar.edu/~sttaylor/FAMINE/Examiner/Archives>, which provides contemporary accounts of The Great Famine through the eyes of newspapers. Featured are The Illustrated London News, The Cork Examiner, 1846-1847, The Pictorial Times, Punch, Oxford to Skibbereen and the Master Picture List, comprised primarily of pen and ink drawings that appeared in periodicals. A warning, these accounts and pictures are heart-wrenching.

Many Irish and Irish-related Web sites provide searchable databases, or access to them. One of the best on the Web is The Irish Ancestral Research Association based in Massachusetts, www.tiara.ie. There you'll find searchable databases of members' Irish surnames and obituaries, and some wonderful links to books and Web sites, including Irish county-specific sites. There's a whole lot more. Other searchable online databases include:

1. Official Report of the Parliamentary Debates of the Houses of the Oireachtas, <http://historical-debates.oireachtas.ie>, which contains the full text of the Dáil Debates from 21 January 1919 (First Dáil) and the Seanad Debates from 11 December 1922 (First Seanad).

2. Index to the Prerogative Wills of Ireland, <http://indigo.ie/~rcd/vicars/index.html>, 1536 to 1810 by Sir Arthur Vicars; 1897

3. Irish cemeteries, www.interment.net/ireland/index.htm

4. Index to Belfast Newsletter, 1737-1800, www.ucs.louisiana.edu/bnl/

5. Index to Irish Marriages in Walker's Hibernian Magazine, 1771 to 1812 by Henry Farrar, London, England, 1890, http://home.att.net/~labaths/irish\_marriages.htm,

6. Index to the Births, Marriages, & Deaths in Anthologia Hibernica, 1793 to 1794, http://home.att.net/~cmlabath/anthologia\_hibernica.htm, compiled by Sir Arthur Vicars, F.S. A., Ulster-King-of-Arms. The periodical existed only two years and ceased to appear when the publishers were given an official appointment.

7. Ulster Historical Foundation, www.ancestryireland.co.uk/ Features three free searchable databases plus many more for members.

8. CMC Ireland www.cmcrp.net/faq.php?topic=1 The letters stand for the group's project and online holdings, “Christening, Marriage, and Cemetery,” as well as death records. The primary focus is the 19th century.

9. Irish Men and Women Whose Names are on the Vietnam Veterans Memorial (The Wall) in Washington, D.C., www.irishonthewall.com

10. The On-Line Institute for Advanced Loyalist Studies, www.royalprovincial.com/genealogy/gen.shtml. This site has a database of Irish men who fought in the American Revolutionary War.

11. Irish Family History Society (Cumann Stair Clann na Heireann, <http://homepage.eircom.net/~ifhs/> This site, based in County Kildare, Ireland, offers many resources and links, as well as searchable databases.

12. The Irish Times, <http://scripts.ireland.com>, has an entire genealogy page offering searchable databases and excellent links and information. Subscribers may access more than just the indexes.

13. The IreAtlas Townland database, www.seanruad.com/ is a handy interactive tool that allows you to find a parish within a county, a county within a barony, etc.

14. Irish GenWeb, www.rootsweb.com/~irlwgw/, just like the U.S. version.

15. UK & Ireland Genealogical Information Service, www.genuki.org.uk/big/irl/index.html, this is part of the GENUKI that covers all of Ireland. It is organized based on historic administrative boundaries, which are more helpful for genealogy research. GENUKI home page:

www.genuki.org.uk/

16. Irish Ancestors pages, www.geocities.com/irishancestralpages/ The site says it all: “We dedicate this site to the promotion and encouragement of Irish genealogy and in our own way try and help those researching the Irish Ancestral Past. It contains a host of on-line records and extractions.”

17. Irish Ancestors, www.ireland.com/ancestor/ This site has a surname search page which returns not only the distribution and spelling variations, but also any books that have been written that cover that surname and where to find them. There is a place name search for all of Ireland or for a specific city, and much more.

18. Irish Genealogy: The Celtic Connection, www.geocities.com/Heartland/Prairie/8088/ire.html Click on a county and you'll be rewarded with searchable database indexes.

19. The 1796 Spinning Wheel Premium Entitlements List, <http://freepages.genealogy.rootsweb.com/~donegal/flaxlist2.htm>, search by surname.

Search for Old Cities, New Towns & Counties

ePodunk.com launched a free Web site, compiled by journalists formerly with the Detroit Free Press, The New York Times Web edition and American Demographics magazine, that allows researchers to find communities by former names. (www.epodunk.com) The new database draws from hundreds of published sources to compile a list of prior post office names, railroad depots, plat names, informal place names and merged communities.

Researchers can use the database to link historic documents, which may have outdated place names, to current resources, such as libraries, archives, cemeteries and historical societies. The site contains information about every U.S. county, profiles more than 27,000 cities and more.

New Webmaster, Newsletter Editor

If you notice changes afoot at our Web site and in this newsletter, please pardon our dust. Anne M. Johnson has taken over the newsletter and her husband, John Johnson, has taken over the Web site.

The Johnsons look forward to trying new things that increase enjoyment, accessibility and readability of both communication means for all of our members.

And be sure to thank Myra Thompson and Bev Murfin, for having carried the roles for some time. They've done an outstanding job, for which we are grateful.

If you have ideas for changes, e-mail Anne: aofjax@bellsouth.com or John: jjohnson@auchter.com They look forward to serving you this year.

And if you've been to the Web site lately, you will have noticed the link to Heritage Quest Online has changed. The link is now on the top right section of the home (main) page.

APB for Missing Books

The following books were missing when the library was inventoried on Nov. 1, 2004. The newest addition to this list is the Connecticut book which is the second volume of a three-volume set.

It is sad to see books continue to disappear from our shelves. We respectfully request members double-check their shelves for any of these books. If found, please return the item so that others may use them.

Civil War Photographs

The U.S. Army Military History Institute has a collection of Civil War photos available to the public.

Search its catalog by name to see if it has a photograph of your ancestor or the regiment he served in.

Fill out the online order form and the institute will send a photocopy of the photo and projected cost, which varies by whether a negative must be made.

A recent search for my ancestors drew no reward, but I found a full-face photograph of a friend's ancestor in excellent condition.

Most of the photos appear to be of Union troops and soldiers. The Web site is: <http://carlisle-www.armymil/usamhi>

Resources for Finding Huguenot Ancestors

R. Jaudon "Don" Berry, our January program speaker, offers additional resources for finding Huguenot ancestors. Web sites include www.rootsweb.com and www.twrcomputing.freemove.co.uk/cd600.htm

He also recommends Huguenot Settlers in North America and Europe 1600s-1900s. This commercial site, which you must pay to use, contains an electronically searchable text of the pages from 17 volumes of French Protestant (or Huguenot) family and immigrant histories. Produced in collaboration with the Genealogical Publishing Co., they contain biographies, narratives, and records that trace the Huguenot migration through Europe to Canada and the United States. The volumes include a searchable index of about 19,000 Huguenot immigrants, although many more family members are included in the text.

The following works are included on this Family Archive: The Huguenot Settlements in Ireland, by Grace Lawless Lee. This award-winning book is the definitive account of the principal Huguenot family settlements in Ireland. Lee furnishes specific biographical and genealogical details concerning the more successful Huguenot families who settled in Ireland in the wake of the revocation of the Edict of Nantes in 1685. The book is also sprinkled with lists of Huguenot ministers, churches (with their dates of founding), apprentices, students, and so on. The Huguenots: Their Settlements, Churches, and Industries in England and Ireland by Samuel Smiles.

An instructive history, this remarkable work recounts the causes leading to the persecution of the French Protestants and traces their emigration from France to England and Ireland. Includes a collection of 300 biographies of noted Huguenot refugees who settled in Britain, and a separate section on the Huguenots in America by G. P. Disoway.
